BUSINESS: The Coca-Cola Company is the world's largest beverage company. It distributes major brands (Coca-Cola, diet Coke, Sprite, Barq's, Mr. PiBB, Fanta, Fresca, Dasani, Evian, Danone, Powerade, Minute Maid, and others) through bottlers around the world. Business outside North America accounted for 74% of net sales and 77% of operating profits in 2007. Coca-Cola

The Coca-Cola Company's share net advanced some 26% from the prior year during its second quarter. However, this does not reflect a $0.40 charge that the company incurred relating to a noncash impairment charge at Coca-Cola Enterprises, a major bottler for KO (KO earns income from its 35% share ownership in CCE). We have not included the expense in our share-net results because the charge is a one-time occurrence, as it relates to CCE's intangible assets and, thus, does not directly affect that company's ongoing ability to generate cash. Since we do not expect such hefty charges for the rest of the year, we are optimistic for the balance of 2008 and into 2009, because

The company is attempting to navigate through an increasingly difficult operating environment. It has identified several ways to lower operating expenses, such as streamlining operations by increasing supply efficiency, thereby reducing waste. Another initiative is to implement a new procure-to-pay program. This will aid in lowering operating costs by decreasing labor requirements through an automated process. The company plans to introduce this initially in North America and Europe. These programs are expected to save Coca-Cola about $400 million to $500 million by the end of 2011.

Near-term cutbacks are not as bubbly though. In light of higher input costs and fuel prices, coke bottler prices are set to increase at the onset of fall. This will not likely sit well with consumers whose pockets are being pinched, too. Also, the company has stated that it is holding off on hiring, at least for the rest of the year.

Overseas markets and new products are good growth engines. Although second-quarter earnings were hurt by natural disasters, like the earthquakes in China, KO is expanding its drink portfolio. In India, its Minute Maid expansion plan was positive, and the upcoming Olympics should aid earnings, too. We think it is prudent to expand offerings in undeveloped markets, because this provides an avenue for growth.

This issue carries our Highest Safety rank: (1). However, 3- to 5-year capital appreciation potential is not appealing at this time.
